Presenter: Kevin Burke, Deputy Boiler Inspector

In 1977, I went to work as a Boilermaker's Helper in the San Diego Naval Shipyards. I learned all phases of boiler repair, was promoted to journeyman, and earned certification in all positions of pipe welding. Fast forwarding 30 years to 2007, I took and passed the National Board of Boiler Inspectors examination. This presented an opportunity to apply and accept a position with the Florida Fire Marshal's office providing protection to the citizens of Florida.

Program Description:

There are many updates that every mechanical and plumbing designer needs to be aware of we need to be able to communicate to architects why we need the space we ask for. Make sure you invite all your mechanical and plumbing system designers to see this presentation followed by a Q&A with the Deputy state boiler inspector. His focus for this presentation will be to the engineers and designers.

V.P. Education

Marcy Bartges, CPD

On May 22, 2024, at noon CDT, plumbing code expert Julius Ballanco, PE, CPD, FASPE, will present “The Value of Codes,” a new one-hour webinar from ASPE Education that offers 0.1 CEU.

One of the overriding documents impacting engineers is “the code.” Whether it be the plumbing code or a combination of the plumbing, building, mechanical, and/or fuel gas code, “the code” controls the design of any project, and understanding it changes the code from a hindrance to a help—making designs and projects run smoother and more economically.

This webinar will help you understand the value of codes and how to use them effectively and efficiently, focusing on:

- A quick history of codes as they apply to the construction profession
- Modern development of plumbing and building code requirements
- Why we use codes
- Allowances, prohibitions, and restrictions
- Guiding principles of code application
- Acceptance of modern concepts (i.e., alternative approval, alternative engineered design, accepted engineering practice)
- How to use a code to your benefit

Cost

This webinar is free for ASPE members and $35 for nonmembers. Not an ASPE member? Join today to attend this webinar for free and take advantage of all of ASPE’s other member benefits.

You can register for “The Value of Codes” on ASPE Education.
